

These Blurring Balms Are Essentially Instagram Filters for Your Face

By Erin Lukas | May 10, 2016

Instagram pros know that the "blur" tool does wonders when the lighting or your complexion isn't the most selfie-worthy by making the little details in a photo less sharp and obvious to the eye. Blurring balms are essentially the makeup version of the photo editing tool. These multitasking products are often formulated with light-diffusing technology that works to create a smooth surface that disguises large pores, fine-lines, wrinkles, and uneven texture. Applied after foundation or alone, consider blurring balms, Photoshop in a tube or bottle. Read on for five products that will soften the rough edges of your complexion.

2. NUDESTIX BLUR PENCIL

Use this pencil that immediately hides creases and blurs pores to create the appearance of a smoother skin texture for a flawless-looking complexion. It's formulated with dehydrated hyaluronic acid that works with the water found naturally in the skin to fill in and hide lines.

$24

<http://www.instyle.com/beauty/makeup/these-blurring-balms-are-essentially-instagram-filters-your-face#1298706>