I Found My Perfect Natural Lip Color!

June 28, 2016

NUDESTIX recently came out with Gel Color Lip + Cheek Balm ($24 @ sephora.com). The formula comes in 8 satin-finish colors – from Fate, described as a clear but better (is that like YLBB??) to Wicked, a deep plum purple. And speaking of, while the Fate shade shown here wasn't anything to write home about, the Rebel color is the consummate sheer pink color, so acronym'd it would be MPLC (my perfect lipcolor).

The feel of the formula on my lips was comfortable, not quite as heavy as a balm, and of course not sticky, and if you've read Cybelesays.com for a while, you know how crazy I am about wearing comfortable lippies! And each of these Gel Colors is made with rapeseed, sunflower, and vitamin E, among lip-nourishing other ingredients.

And my new MPLC of Rebel? I have a feeling I'm going to be wearing this a lot as it seems like it will work both for the office and paired with a smoky eye look.

And of course each comes with the accouterments of the metal tin box that has the mirror on the inside and the pencil sharpener especially made for these sticks.
