

Only been shopping beauty brands based in the US, eh? (Sorry, couldn't help ourselves.) But seriously — if you're not using products from our friendly neighbors up north, then you're missing out on all that this country has to offer. In fact, Canada is home to a range of renowned makeup, skin care, and hair care brands. These include many that offer products crafted from natural, organic, and dermatologist-tested ingredients. While eco beauty has definitely gained significant traction in the US, Canada was ahead of the game with this farm-to-table product trend. With shipping deals and easy ecommerce websites that ship to America, there's no excuse not to expand your horizons — and push your geographical limits — to check out the following Canadian beauty brands.

NUDESTIX

Nudestix is one of the brands that truly embodies — and helped to popularize — the trend of “no-makeup makeup.” The brand was founded by two millennials — Taylor and Ally Frankel — and is based on a mission of highlighting natural beauty with low-pigmented, nude shades. To do so, Nudestix’s line features a series of cosmetic pencils for the lips, eyes, cheeks, brows, and face, including those that moisturize, sculpt, bronze, and conceal.

<http://www.fashioncentral.in/beauty-style/cosmetics/13-beauty-products-more-lustworthy-than-drake/>