

HollywoodLife by Bonnie Fuller

Did Kris Jenner Get Butt Injections? Top Plastic Surgeon Reveals All

August 7, 2016

The Kardashians love to show off their booty. So, yeah, it makes a lot sense that Kris Jenner, 60, may have got some assistance enhancing her butt. A top plastic surgeon now dishes EXCLUSIVELY to Hollywoodlife.com about how Kris got that jelly ready.

Their lips, their breasts, their noses, and their thighs. It's fair to say there are few Kardashian parts that haven't gone untouched by a scalpel/ needle, so it should come as now surprise that mom Kris has added some volume to her Kard-ass, especially since she's newly single off her split from Corey Gamble, who is 25 years her junior.

"As the matriarch of a family that's preoccupied with plastic surgery, it's not surprising that Kris appears to have had her buttocks enhanced," famed cosmetic surgeon Dr. Anthony

Youn tellsHollywoodlife.com "Her derrière appears significantly larger than it has in the past. The most likely method of buttock enhancement is the Brazilian Butt Lift, a surgery where fat is liposuctioned from one part of the body, such as the hips and thighs, purified, and injected into the buttocks. About half the fat that is injected will stay long term. If she's had her rear end enhanced, and it's definitely possible she has, then this is most likely how she did it."

Kris is single and ready to mingle after breaking up with Corey in late June amid rumors that she was uncomfortable with his close relationship with Kourtney, 37. The suspicious friendship was even detailed on 'Keeping Up With The Kardashians.' Kris and Corey dated for a year-and-a-half. They were first linked in early November 2014 after meeting at designer Ricardo Tisci's birthday party in Ibiza.

HollywoodLifers, does Kris' booty look bangin' or should she have left it well enough alone and let nature continue to take it's course.

<http://hollywoodlife.com/2016/08/07/kris-jenner-plastic-surgeon-butt-injection-reveal/>