Essence Beauty Box August 2016 Subscription Box Review

Nudestix Magnetic Eye Color – Night ($24.00): I think the value of the pencil I received is a little lower; mine did not come in the tin case or with the sharpener as shown in the link. An über long wearing eye shadow pencil that highlights, provides intense color, precise lining and primes lids for all day wear. A soft and super gliding, easy to blend, eye color with even payoff that is waterproof and long wearing. Ideal for oily lids, these fun and sassy touch n’go makeup stix provide a quick and easy ‘nude look, but better’ for all faces in all places. This lives up to its definition of long wearing. I felt like once this was in place, it was a little hard to blend. I have small eyes, and black/dark shadows tend to make them look smaller, so this will be used more as an eyeliner and not a shadow.

The August Essence BeautyBox had an estimated value around $41; nearly 3 times the cost of a single box! However, more than half the value was just the Nudestix pencil. I loved the Skin & Co. Roma hand creams. They were definitely my favorite items in the box.
