THIS WEEK IN BEAUTY | FALL FAVORITES

NOVEMBER 10, 2016

This week I'm sharing some of my favorite beauty products for fall! As a follow-up, I will be sharing another video on YouTube for my This Week in Beauty series next week. As much as I love writing about my experience with each of these products, I'm better able to express my thoughts on the products by talking through them with you and sharing my stories on video. Till then, feel free to head over to my Instagram and ask me questions about the products. I'd love to create a short video about any of these beauty favorites.

I also wanted to thank everyone who participated in the Caudalie giveaway. Congratulations to Alexandra Mita on winning the giveaway! Can't wait to hear about her experience with their skincare line. I'm positive she's going to love it! They have an amazing lineup for holiday gift sets! Hint, Hint, if anyone is reading this post that might get me something for the holidays, please pickup this hand cream trio. I always need hand lotion in my purse! Hehe.

NUDESTIX SHADOW PENCILS

This set of shadow pencils are the perfect set for the fall season. The set includes three colors; Taupe, Twilight and Lilith. The classic set makes it easy to use for your everyday colors. The Lilith pencil can be used to highlight above the upper lid of the eye or inner eye. The set also comes in a cute tin that includes a mirror to apply all your makeup and also includes a sharper. What I love most is that the shadow doesn't smear!! Just let it set for a minute and you are good to go. No need to worry. Thanks NudeStix, you get us!
