Keri Pina - November 29, 2016

Did you know today is Giving Tuesday? Remember how last week was all about taking time to pause and be grateful? Well, now it's time to put those happy thoughts into action and figure out how to pay it forward. You probably have a lot of holiday shopping to finish, but there's plenty of charities out there that could use a boost, too. So why not insert some goodwill into your gift-giving by buying presents that benefit a good cause? Here are 6 products that your friends will love and that you'll feel good about buying.
