Halloween is over which means Christmas is officially here! Just kidding...we technically still have Thanksgiving to think about, but that doesn't mean we can't start researching holiday presents for our family, friends and loved ones. Being the beauty lovers that we are, we got down to business and combed through hundreds of products and sets on all of our favorite sites. In the process, we realized that while it is important to give to others, it's also important to #treatyoself as well. And sometimes, when you see a particularly amazing product, you just won't be able to let go. With that in mind, here are lots of awesome beauty gifts that we might just keep for ourselves. Better yet, buy one for your BFF, and grab another for you!
