Calling all indie beauty lovers! Nudestix is launching yet another innovative product that you're going to want to get your hands on—stat. If you're a fan of their satin Magnetic Matte Eyecolors that double as cheek tints, you're going to love what's about to come next. Get your first look at the collection, below.

Starting February 10, the brand is launching eight new matte shades as a part of its new Magnetic Matte Lip Color collection for $24 each. The range features variations of mauve, brown, and burgundy shades that are rumored to basically be life-proof, kiss-proof, and everything-that'll-mess-up-your-lipstick-proof. And the best part? Compared to other matte lipsticks, these waterproof colors won't appear dry. Instead, each pencil glides on creamy and dries to a satin finish that are made to stay put for nine hours. If you're in the market for a signature lippie that won't budge, this collection might just be made for you.
