1 APPLY BALM ALL DAY

The combo of cold air outside and dry heat inside sucks the moisture from your lips, says dermatologist Dr. Ava Shamban. Fight the problem by always keeping an unscented lip balm on hand.

SPF IS AN ADDED BONUS

2 HYDRATE AT NIGHT TOO

Slather on a natural oil, like coconut, before bed. Most of us are mouth breathers when we sleep, which can dry out your lips even more, explains Dr. Shamban.

3 MAKE THEM SMOOTH

A little exfoliating will keep your pout feeling supersoft. As needed, rub a scrub onto damp lips and then wipe it away with a warm washcloth.
