

29 New Makeup Products For Summer That Are Actually Worth Trying

Tuesday, June 27, 2017 by Jessica Booth

It seems like a new makeup product is released every single day – just in the last week, we were introduced to Kim Kardashian-West's new contour kit and Milk Makeup's Glitter Stick, to name only two. This is really exciting for anyone who is beauty obsessed enough to spend a good portion of their money at Sephora, or beauty bloggers and vloggers, who typically get gifted with this stuff and have more opportunity to try it out. But for anyone who is on a beauty budget? It can be overwhelming and kind of upsetting. After all, no one can possibly buy everything!

So, at that point, you look at product reviews with this question in mind: which new makeup is actually worth spending your money on? You want something that works, is long-lasting, versatile, and of course fun. You probably also want something that is aesthetically pleasing and made to show off on Instagram, but obviously, the most important thing about it is whether or not it works. Products have different results for everyone, but I find that firsthand reviews are always the most helpful! That's why, from now on, I'll be doing regular features on which new products are worth your money and time – at least, I hope they will be! Nothing is a guarantee, but hey, it's better to read an honest review than nothing at all.

To start, check out these new makeup products for summer that are worth buying. Most of these just recently came out, while others have been around for a few weeks now. But they're all relatively new and exciting, and they are all inching their way to my favorites list. They're ideal for the summer heat and the glowing complexion you're probably looking for. See why for yourself:

NUDESTIX

15. Nudestix #BabeBoss Faves Box

Nudestix has been one of my favorite brands since they launched a few years ago, because the products are truly awesome and feel great. I was super excited when they introduced their #BabeBoss box, which is a collection of five favorites from well-known beauty vloggers like @ssssamanthaa and @saythelees. You get a range of lip shades that work for any occasion. These lipsticks feel creamy and lovely, and they last forever.

Nudestix #BabeBoss Faves Box, $59, Sephora

<http://www.gurl.com/2017/06/27/new-makeup-for-summer-worth-trying-beauty-reviews/>