Time to Hoard More Matte Lipsticks! 6 Brand-New Nudestix Shades Are Coming

August 15, 2017

Aimee Simeon

Of all the matte lipsticks on the market, I can confidently say that Nudestix makes some of my absolute favorites. Millennial sisters Ally and Taylor Frankel have mastered a velvety-matte formula that glides on like butter and lasts all damn day. On top of offering insanely pigmented colors, Nudestix lipsticks won't make your lips feel dry or papery compared to other buzzy formulas. I always stock up on Stiletto (matte red orange) and Purity (matte ballerina pink). So when I found out that Nudestix would be teaming up with six beauty influencers to create six brand-new colors, I knew that lipstick-lovers everywhere, myself included, would be in for a real treat. The brand tapped a diverse group of talent — including Samantha Ravndahl (@ssssmantha), Jaleesa M (@saythelees), and Cydnee Black (@cydbee) — to create bespoke Nudestix shades for its Influencer Custom Shade Palette. The limited-edition lipstick collection caters to just about every beauty style. It features dainty corals and dusty pinks, which are perfect everyday colors. For Fall (or date night), it also boasts trendy burgundy and brown sticks. Each shade lasts like a tattoo and won't budge or smudge for up to eight hours — seriously. The collection ($59) goes on sale at select Sephora locations as well as Ulta.com and Macys.com on Aug. 15. If you're thinking of snapping it up, we suggest you be swift. These influencers have over 3.6 million combined followers, so we expect the new kit to go fast!
