The Best Anti-Aging Products at Drugstores, According to Skin Experts

By Anneke Knot March 25, 2019

A common myth in skincare ideology is that products need to be expensive in order to be effective—especially when it comes to anti-aging. Sometimes it can feel like the best anti-aging products on the market are all outrageously priced. Yes, plenty of pricey skincare products are worth the tag, but that doesn't mean some drugstore dupes can't do the job. The world of cosmetics is crowded enough as it is, and narrowing down the best drugstore anti-aging products can be far too time consuming. Not to mention, stocking up on eye cream, night cream, serums, and oils, with each one costing $50 or more, quickly adds up. That's enough of a headache to give you wrinkles.

We had different skincare experts weigh in on their favorite budget friendly anti-aging skincare options. Whether you have dry skin, sensitive skin, uneven skin tone, or you are just worried about dark circles, these docs have a recommendation for you. Plus they are all available at your local drugstore. Time to make a haul!

Each product we feature has been independently selected and reviewed by our editorial team. If you make a purchase using the links included, we may earn commission.

Olay Regenerist Micro-Sculpting Cream Facial Moisturizer

"This rich, affordable cream feels like a splurge even though it won't break the bank. Formulated with hyaluronic acid, this moisture packed product can be applied every night post cleansing to instantly plump and seal in hydration."

-Dr. Anna Guanche, board-certified dermatologist and celebrity beauty expert
