

MarketWatch

Buy This, Not That 7 Best Face Washes for Every Skin Type – Starting at just $8 – According to Dermatologists

Whether you have oily, sensitive, dry or another type of skin, dermatologists and skincare experts say these are the facial cleansers to buy.

By: Alisa Wolfson | June 1, 2021

Fully 42% of Americans spend between $50 and $99 on skincare products every three months, according to a Statista, while 22% spent between $100 and $199. When it comes to shopping for simple items like face wash — drugstores, beauty supply shops and online retailers have an overwhelming number of products to choose from — and lots of them are pricey. But it turns out you don't have to spend a ton ($8 will do the trick in many cases) to get great results with your face wash, according to dermatologists and estheticians.

For dry skin: SkinCeuticals Soothing Cleanser, $35 on Dermstore (new subscribers get 15% off their first order)

AMETHYST

Nicole Simpson, beauty veteran, formulator, medical aesthetician and founder of Amethyst Skincare, says she loves this cleanser because it's moisturizing. "It's a soothing foam that truly restores the balance that skin needs in order for other skincare ingredients to work better," she says.

<https://www.marketwatch.com/story/7-best-face-washes-for-every-skin-type-starting-at-just-8-according-to-dermatologists-11622556025?mod=home-page>