Dr. Kimberly Lee is a board-certified Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeon whose Beverly Hills practice has earned a reputation for sophisticated facial rejuvenation and natural-looking results. Her expertise includes facelifts, neck lifts, upper and lower blepharoplasty, rhinoplasty, lip lifts, buccal fat removal, facial fat grafting, and reconstructive procedures.

Dr. Lee completed her undergraduate education at Stanford before completing her residency and Chief Residency in Head and Neck Surgery and Facial Plastic Surgery at Ronald Reagan UCLA Medical Center, followed by fellowship training in Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery.

Her philosophy centers on preserving each patient's individual character while creating refreshed, balanced results rather than an overly altered appearance. Beyond her surgical practice, Dr. Lee is an educator and physician trainer who shares her expertise with other surgeons. She is also an Assistant Clinical Professor in the Division of Head and Neck Surgery at UCLA.

Her work has earned attention from major media outlets, while her philanthropic efforts with Face to Face provide pro bono reconstructive surgery to women affected by domestic violence. With expertise spanning aesthetics, reconstruction, education, and advocacy, Dr. Lee continues to make her mark on facial plastic surgery.
